GOVERNORS HAVE GONE

President Taft's luncheon to the members of the Governors' Conference yesterday in Washington, was the signal for all the distinguished visitors, who have been deliberating in Richmond for the last four days, to take their leave of the city. While several of the executives went to Washington Friday morning, the majority left early yesterday morning by train.

Governor Mann, who went to the National Capital for the President's "National Credits" luncheon, returned to the city last night with former Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, who will be his guest for several days in the mansion.

FASHIONABLES BADLY WORRIED

Proposed to Erect Home for Aged Negroes in Exclusive Brookline.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Brookline, Mass., December 7.—Brookline, the richest town per capita in the United States, and one of the most exclusive residential centers in New England, was in a hurry today when it was learned that William H. Jenkins, a real estate dealer of Boston, has plans for the erection of a home for aged negroes almost next door to the magnificent residence of Lars Anderson, multi-millionaire and ambassador to Japan. Surrounding the property on which it is planned to erect the old negroes home are the homes of some of the most exclusive members of old New England families. Within a stone's throw of the proposed home is the great estate of Edward D. Brandegee, a millionaire, whose wife is one of the leaders of staid old Boston and Brookline society. The home of Judge Harvey Baker, of the Boston Municipal Court, adjoins the "home property." Opposite the negroes' home site, on Flagg Street, is the Brookline Country Club, one of the most exclusive organizations of its kind in America. The property on which the home is to be built was formerly the site of the old Suburban Club. Freeman Jackson donated the property to be used only for a home for aged negroes.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Proprietor of Negro Dance Hall Will Be Up at January Term of Court. Will Redd, colored, a dance hall proprietor, was yesterday held for investigation by the Henrico County grand jury after a hearing before Magistrate R. A. Smith. Redd is charged with shooting and wounding Reuben Miles, also colored, in a row that occurred some weeks ago during the progress of a dance at Redd's establishment. On a second charge of carrying concealed weapons, Magistrate Smith fined Redd $20. Attorney H. M. Smith, Jr., who appeared for the negro, noted an appeal from the magistrate's decision. The shooting, it is said, occurred after Miles had left the hall and attempted to return. Redd, the claim is, would not allow him to enter without paying a second admission fee, and a quarrel arose over the point. The two negroes drew their pistols, as did Harrison Johnson, another negro, who stood by, and a general shooting affray resulted, in which Miles received wounds that confined him to the City Hospital for two weeks. Miles and Johnson were fined by Magistrate Smith for their part in the occurrence earlier in the week. Redd was released on bond.

Charged With Housebreaking.

Henry Washington, colored, was yesterday arrested by Henrico County Police Officer Temple, charged with breaking into the house of a negro woman named Sarah Stewart and stealing from her a pair of shoes valued at $3. Magistrate P. M. Binford, of Fairfield District, issued the warrant for the negro's arrest. He will be tried this week.

Jewelry Peddler Arrested.

Tony Sternsdorff was arrested yesterday by Police Officer Tiller and Jones on the charge of peddling rings without a license. He was found by the officers, it was said, selling the cheap jewelry in the First Market.

Gambling Cases Continued.

The cases against the proprietors of the Madison Club, 41 East Broad Street, and the Flag and Eagle Social Club, 21 North Fifth Street, accused of maintaining unlawful gambling resorts, were again continued yesterday morning in Police Court. Justice Churchfield will go into the hearing next Saturday.

Army Officers Here.

Lieutenant E. R. Wagner, Major, U. S. A., was as his guests General Obear, adjutant-general of Georgia, and Captain Kimbrough, U. S. A., now inspector-instructor of the Infantry branch of the Georgia National Guard.

Negro Arrested for Larceny.

Frank Fields, colored, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with stealing $10 from W. E. Seaton.

DEATH DISCLOSES A DOUBLE LIFE

H. H. Huggins, Highly Respected Architect, With Wife and Child in Roanoke, Lived Here Under Name of Johnston With Woman Known as His Wife--Depressed by His Death, Johnston Woman Attempts Suicide--Huggins's Body Sent to Roanoke.

Apparently dependent over the sudden death of H. H. Huggins, a prominent architect of Roanoke, whom acquaintances in Richmond regarded as her husband, but who was alleged to have had a wife and young daughter in Roanoke, Mrs. Christina Johnston, about thirty years old, yesterday morning about 10 o'clock attempted to commit suicide by swallowing three ounces of chloroform in her room at 1621 West Main Street. Prior to the attempt upon her life, she spent hours in writing letters to friends in Richmond, some of which she mailed, with the expectation they would not be received until after her death. It was one of these missives which led to the discovery of her unconscious form by Bicycle Policeman Botto, about two hours after she had taken the poison. But for emergency treatment on the part of Dr. O. C. Page, City Hospital ambulance surgeon, she would have undoubtedly accomplished her purpose. She was rushed to the City Hospital, and last night it was said she would recover.

The first intimation the police had of the attempted suicide was between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when Mrs. J. B. Kyle, of 329 West Cary Street, telephoned the Second Police Station that she had received a letter from Mrs. Johnston stating that she had committed suicide.

Officer Sent to Scene.

Officer Botto was hurried to the Main Street address, and was told that Mrs. Johnston was asleep and could not be disturbed; that she was overcome by grief over the death of her husband, whose body was then in the house. The dead man and the woman about three months ago had rented two rooms from Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, and were looked upon as an unusually happy couple.

When Botto was informed that Mrs. Johnston could not be disturbed he waited a few minutes, and then found her in bed, unconscious, and a bottle which had contained the chloroform near her side. He sent in a hurry call for the ambulance. Further inquiry disclosed that the dead man was not named Johnston, but Huggins. More than a dozen letters, which had been written by Mrs. Johnston and addressed to various persons, were found placed in the basket of the dead man. They were removed and turned over to the police. She had used black-bordered mourning paper.

The contents of one, and all were practically the same, was as follows:

"The letter I will be with my loved one. God wanted him, and I know He wants me. Please don't think hard of me when you learn the truth. The cross was too heavy to bear. Your broken-hearted friend, (Signed) CHRISTINA JOHNSTON. 'May we rest in peace. Amen.' She had also written a brief will. It was as follows:

"I bequeath all my worldly possessions to my dear brother, Patrick Johnston."

(Signed) CHRISTINA JOHNSTON. With Huggins the woman came to Richmond about three months ago. They lived happily as man and wife. It was reported that they had been married about six years, and that most of their time had been spent abroad. Mrs. Johnston was a native of Dublin, Ireland, and it was only a few months ago that she requested that her brother come to this country. When seen last night, her brother said he understood his sister had been married to Huggins, who was known to him by the name of Johnston, the same as his.

He was unable to throw any further light upon the situation. Mrs. Kyle, who notified the police of Mrs. Johnston's attempted suicide, became acquainted with her when she first came to Richmond.

Find Bank Books.

In the effects of the couple, which were taken charge of by the police, was a large sum of cash and two bank books, one in the name of Huggins, and the other in the name of the woman. The latter showed that she had a considerable sum on deposit in the Norfolk Bank for Savings and Trusts, Norfolk, Va. She had inscribed in this book that she was formerly of Norfolk.

Last night it was said that Mrs. Johnston would recover, and that she had said, when consciousness had returned, she was glad she would get well.

Prominent in Roanoke.

Huggins, whose body was shipped to Roanoke last night, was said to have been a prominent citizen there, worth probably $40,000. He died Wednesday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, following an attack of congestion of the lungs. It was said that he also suffered from heart trouble.

The following dispatch was received last night by The Times-Dispatch from Roanoke:

"Mrs. H. H. Huggins was advised this afternoon of the sudden death of her husband in Richmond to-day, and she is prostrated with grief. Mr. Huggins was one of the most active business men in this city and a leading architect. For several years he was the senior member of the firm of Huggins & Bales, which drew the plans for a large apartment house in this city. A year ago Mr. Huggins dissolved partnership, and since then has been engaged in business for himself. Recently he made plans for a $150,000 apartment house and organized a company which has planned to erect the structure, commencing work in January.

Resident for Twenty Years.

"Mr. Huggins lived in Roanoke for twenty years, and during that time he planned the majority of the largest and most important buildings in the city. He was a native of Columbia, S. C., but came to Roanoke from Lexington, S. C., where he spent a portion of his young life. He was about forty-five years old, and is survived by his widow and one daughter twelve years old, and his mother, who lives here. Besides these, he leaves a sister, Mrs. S. S. Burch, and a brother, Clifton S. Huggins, both of this city, and one sister in South Carolina.

"Mr. Huggins was highly esteemed here, both in social and business circles, and was a man of highest Christian character. He was reputed to be wealthy."

Fined $10 for Cruelty.

M. Ferguson, colored, was fined $10 and costs yesterday morning in Police Court for cruelty to a mule. Samuel Sims, colored, was sent to jail for four months for stealing clothing from George Clegg.

A. M. Johnson and Mike Mahoney were each fined $10 and costs for being drunk, disorderly and recklessly driving their teams.

Said to be Insane.

At the request of Superintendent J. R. Wood, of the penitentiary, the City Circuit Court will order an inquiry into the sanity of two prisoners, Willis Perry, convict 2666, and Albert Norris, convict 3561, whose sanity has been questioned by the prison surgeon.
